

Clearing choices open 5 July

Clearing opens on 5 July so if any of your students are still looking to apply, aren't holding any offers, or have since changed their mind, they can now search and apply for courses through Clearing.

- Find everything you need about supporting your students through Confirmation and Clearing. Have a look at our 'Streetview' series where we've asked students at universities, what tips they have for their peers applying.
- New to advising? The latest training modules are a great place to start. Sign-in to access training on the student journey and how to manage students' applications post-submission.
- Listen to the latest Expert Voices Live - Hear experts from across the education sector discuss the latest guidance for your students in the lead up to results day.

Dates for your diary

If your students applied by 30 June and are still awaiting a decision from any of their choices, universities and colleges have until the 17 July to make an offer. Students have until 24 July to reply to any offers they receive. If they don't get any offers at this stage, they can still use Clearing.

International Conference 2024

This year's UCAS International Conference saw over 300 participants from over 35 countries join us in London to learn, share and collaborate over the course of three days. Day one and two were dedicated to updates, insights and best practice for UCAS' adviser community, with plenaries, panels, breakout sessions and lots of networking opportunities. The third day of conference was host to the inaugural International Higher Education Provider day. So far delegate feedback has been hugely positive, and we are already planning for how we can expand for the UCAS International Conference 2025.
