

Suggested Copy

Please use this to promote the UCAS Conventions within any of your regular communications, adapting it if required.

UCAS conventions: it all starts here.

If you're interested in higher education, and want a steer on what you'll be signing up for, then get yourself to a UCAS convention!

Don't worry; you won't have to venture too far from home as there are about 50 held every year, right across the UK – from Shetland to Cornwall and everywhere in between. And they're free to attend.

They're an excellent opportunity to get some face time with admissions staff and subject specialists, find out what life's like on and off campus, and discover what else is on offer when your exams are done and dusted – volunteer work, gap year adventures, and the big wide world of work.